Tiger Testing Secures Another Contract in the Food & Beverage Industry

During the height of the COVID-19 pandemic, Tiger Testing mobilized to perform Molecular testing for a leading United States manufacturer and marketer of meat products, snacks, and appetizers. With thousands of employees across several states, this company is well known in the food service industry for processed snacks.

In an effort to set higher safety standards to identify and eliminate unacceptable risks, and relentlessly pursue a healthy workplace, our client places huge emphasis on food safety as well as people safety. It is their mission to provide a safe working environment for all personnel. For this reason, they want to ensure employees are able to work without the threat of COVID-19.

The Tiger Testing team of Health Care Professionals (HCP) performed tests on over 1,000 staff members in five plants arrayed across the country.

As a result of our successful outcome, we received an email requesting 100 additional test kits for new hires. The customer stated, "We are loving the fast turnaround! Big THANK YOU to you and your AWESOME team!"
